

Fajrin Hardinandar

Development Economist | Asian Political Economy Scholar

📍 Hualien, Taiwan ✉ fhardinandar@gmail.com 🌐 fajrinhardinandar 📖 Google Scholar

Professional Summary

Fajrin Hardinandar is a doctoral student at National Dong Hwa University, Taiwan, and a lecturer at Universitas Muhammadiyah Bima, Indonesia.

His research focuses on inequality studies, applied international trade, institutional economics, and applied policy analysis in the Asian context.

Contact Details

Email: fhardinandar@gmail.com

Institutional email: 811342008@gms.ndhu.edu.tw

Education

Ph.D. National Dong Hwa University , Applied International Trade, Applied Economics, Inequality, Deglobalization, Asian Context	Hualien, Taiwan
Student	2024 – present
• MOE Elite Ph.D. Students Award • NDHU Excellent Scholarship

Mas- ter of Eco- nom- ics	Universitas Diponegoro , Regional Economics	Indonesia
	• Master of Economics

Experience

Universitas Muhammadiyah Bima , Lecturer	Bima, Indonesia
• Lecturer in the Faculty of Law and Economics, Universitas Muhammadiyah Bima	Present

Institute of Social Economics Finance and Digital , Researcher	Central Java, Indonesia
• Conducts policy-oriented research on regional development and macro-socioeconomic issues	Present

Skills

Empirical Methods: Panel Data, IV/2SLS, Shift-Share Bartik

Software: R, Stata, LaTeX

Languages

Indonesian: Native

English: Professional working proficiency

Research Interests

Income inequality

Poverty

Applied international trade

Institutional economics

Political economy

Regional development

Public policy

Applied econometrics